

Greater Manchester (GM) 10 Tips for Talking

Printable Slides

Introduction

- Welcome to the Greater Manchester (GM) 10 Tips for Talking. Here are some really simple things that we all can do to support the development of children's speech, language and communication skills and give our children the best start in life.
 - This set of slides can be used individually with families or other practitioners if you have identified that they need support in a particular area .
 - The individual tip should be used as a talking point and then an aid memoir for the family .
 - It is important that you don't just hand over the message as a leaflet but use it as part of your discussions with the family and that specific advice is given to consolidate and embed the highlighted concept.

Tip 1 - When I am in mum's tummy I can hear. I love to listen to your voice when you talk or sing to me. I even like to listen to your favourite music.

- Hearing you helps me to recognise you and builds a bond between us. Voices and music that I know will comfort me when I am born.

Tip 2 - Cuddle me close so I can see your face and talk to me as soon as I am born.

- I love it when you talk in a high pitched, singsong voice. People all over the world talk this way to babies because it helps us to learn.
- I might not be able to talk yet, but I will respond in my own way. I might look hard at your face, move my mouth when you talk or even wave my arms and legs. These all mean I am bonding with you.

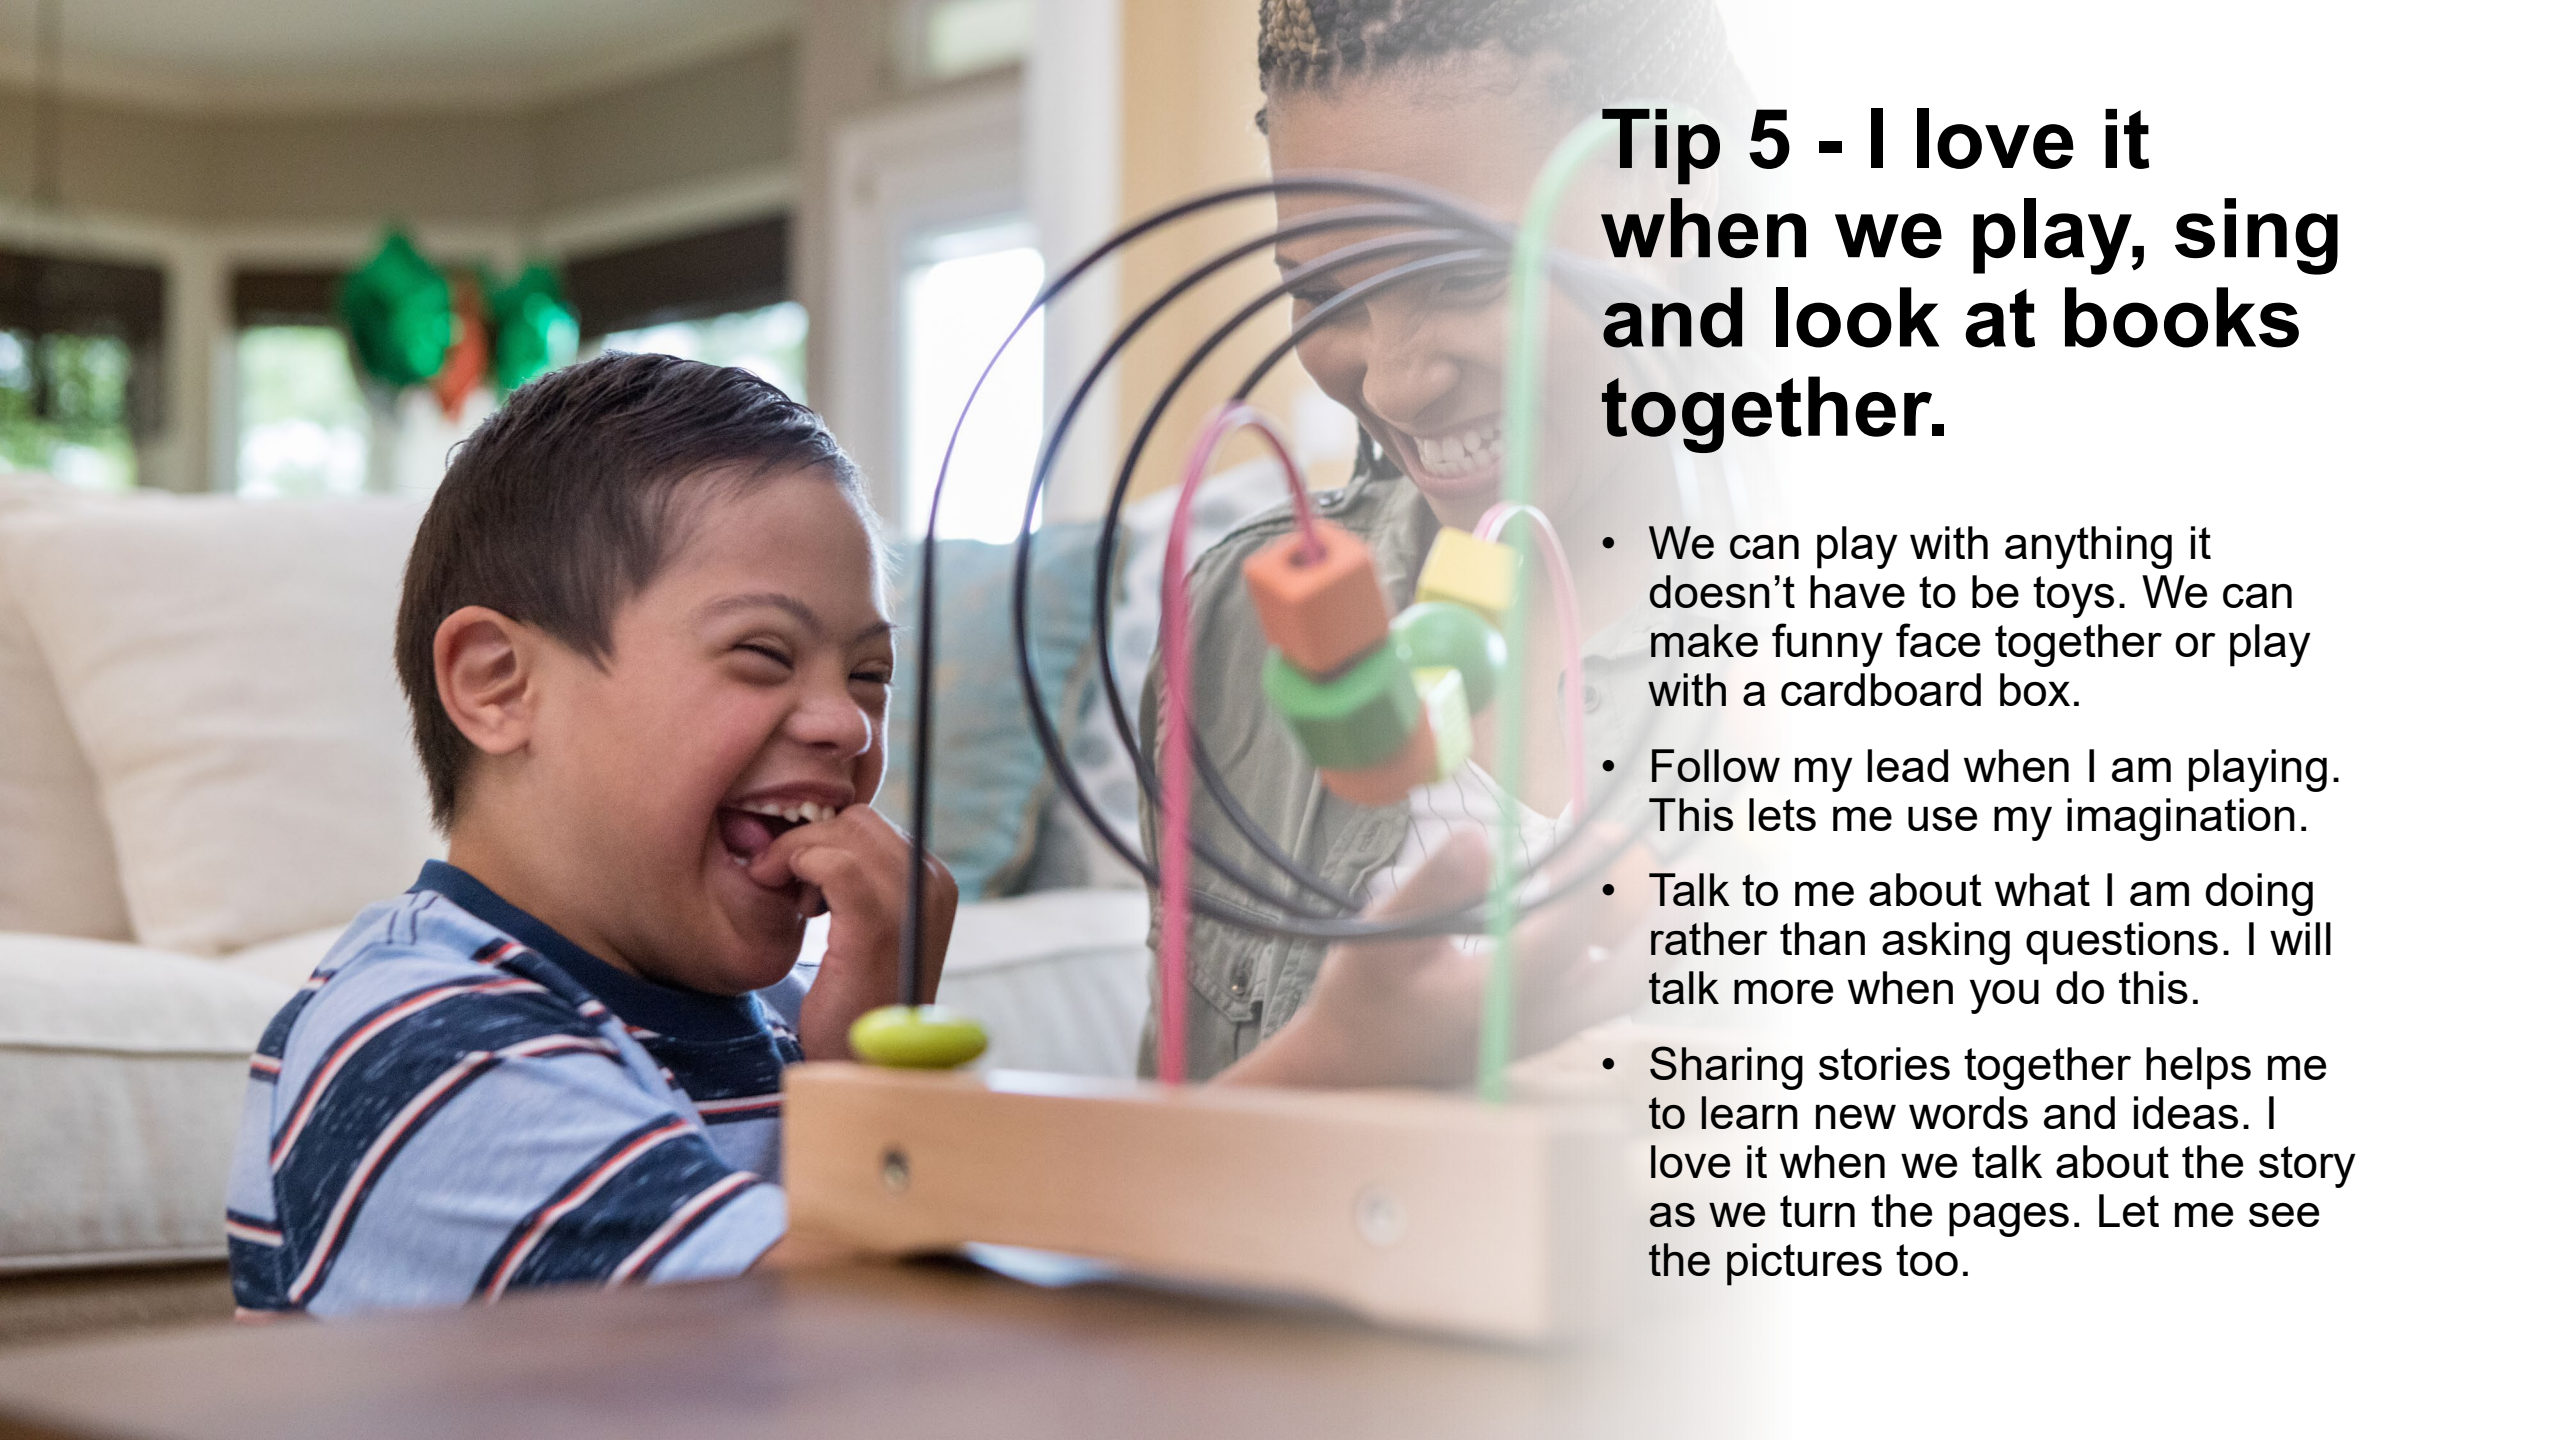

Tip 3 - Talking about things that interest me or tell me how you think I am feeling.

If I look or point at something talk about that. This shows me you understand me.

Tip 4 - Don't ignore me.

- Grown ups are experts in talking and I learn everything from you.
- Put your phone down, turn off the telly and let's have a chat.
- I can hear you really well when it is quiet. I like to listen carefully to your talking. This will help me to become a good listener and a good talker.

A woman with short dark hair is smiling and playing with a young boy. They are both looking at a colorful string-and-button toy. The boy is laughing and has his hand near his mouth. The toy consists of a wooden base with several loops of string (black, pink, green) and colorful buttons (orange, yellow, green) attached to them. The background is a bright, indoor setting with a white couch and some green decorations.

Tip 5 - I love it when we play, sing and look at books together.

- We can play with anything it doesn't have to be toys. We can make funny face together or play with a cardboard box.
- Follow my lead when I am playing. This lets me use my imagination.
- Talk to me about what I am doing rather than asking questions. I will talk more when you do this.
- Sharing stories together helps me to learn new words and ideas. I love it when we talk about the story as we turn the pages. Let me see the pictures too.

Tip 6 - Talk to me all the time.

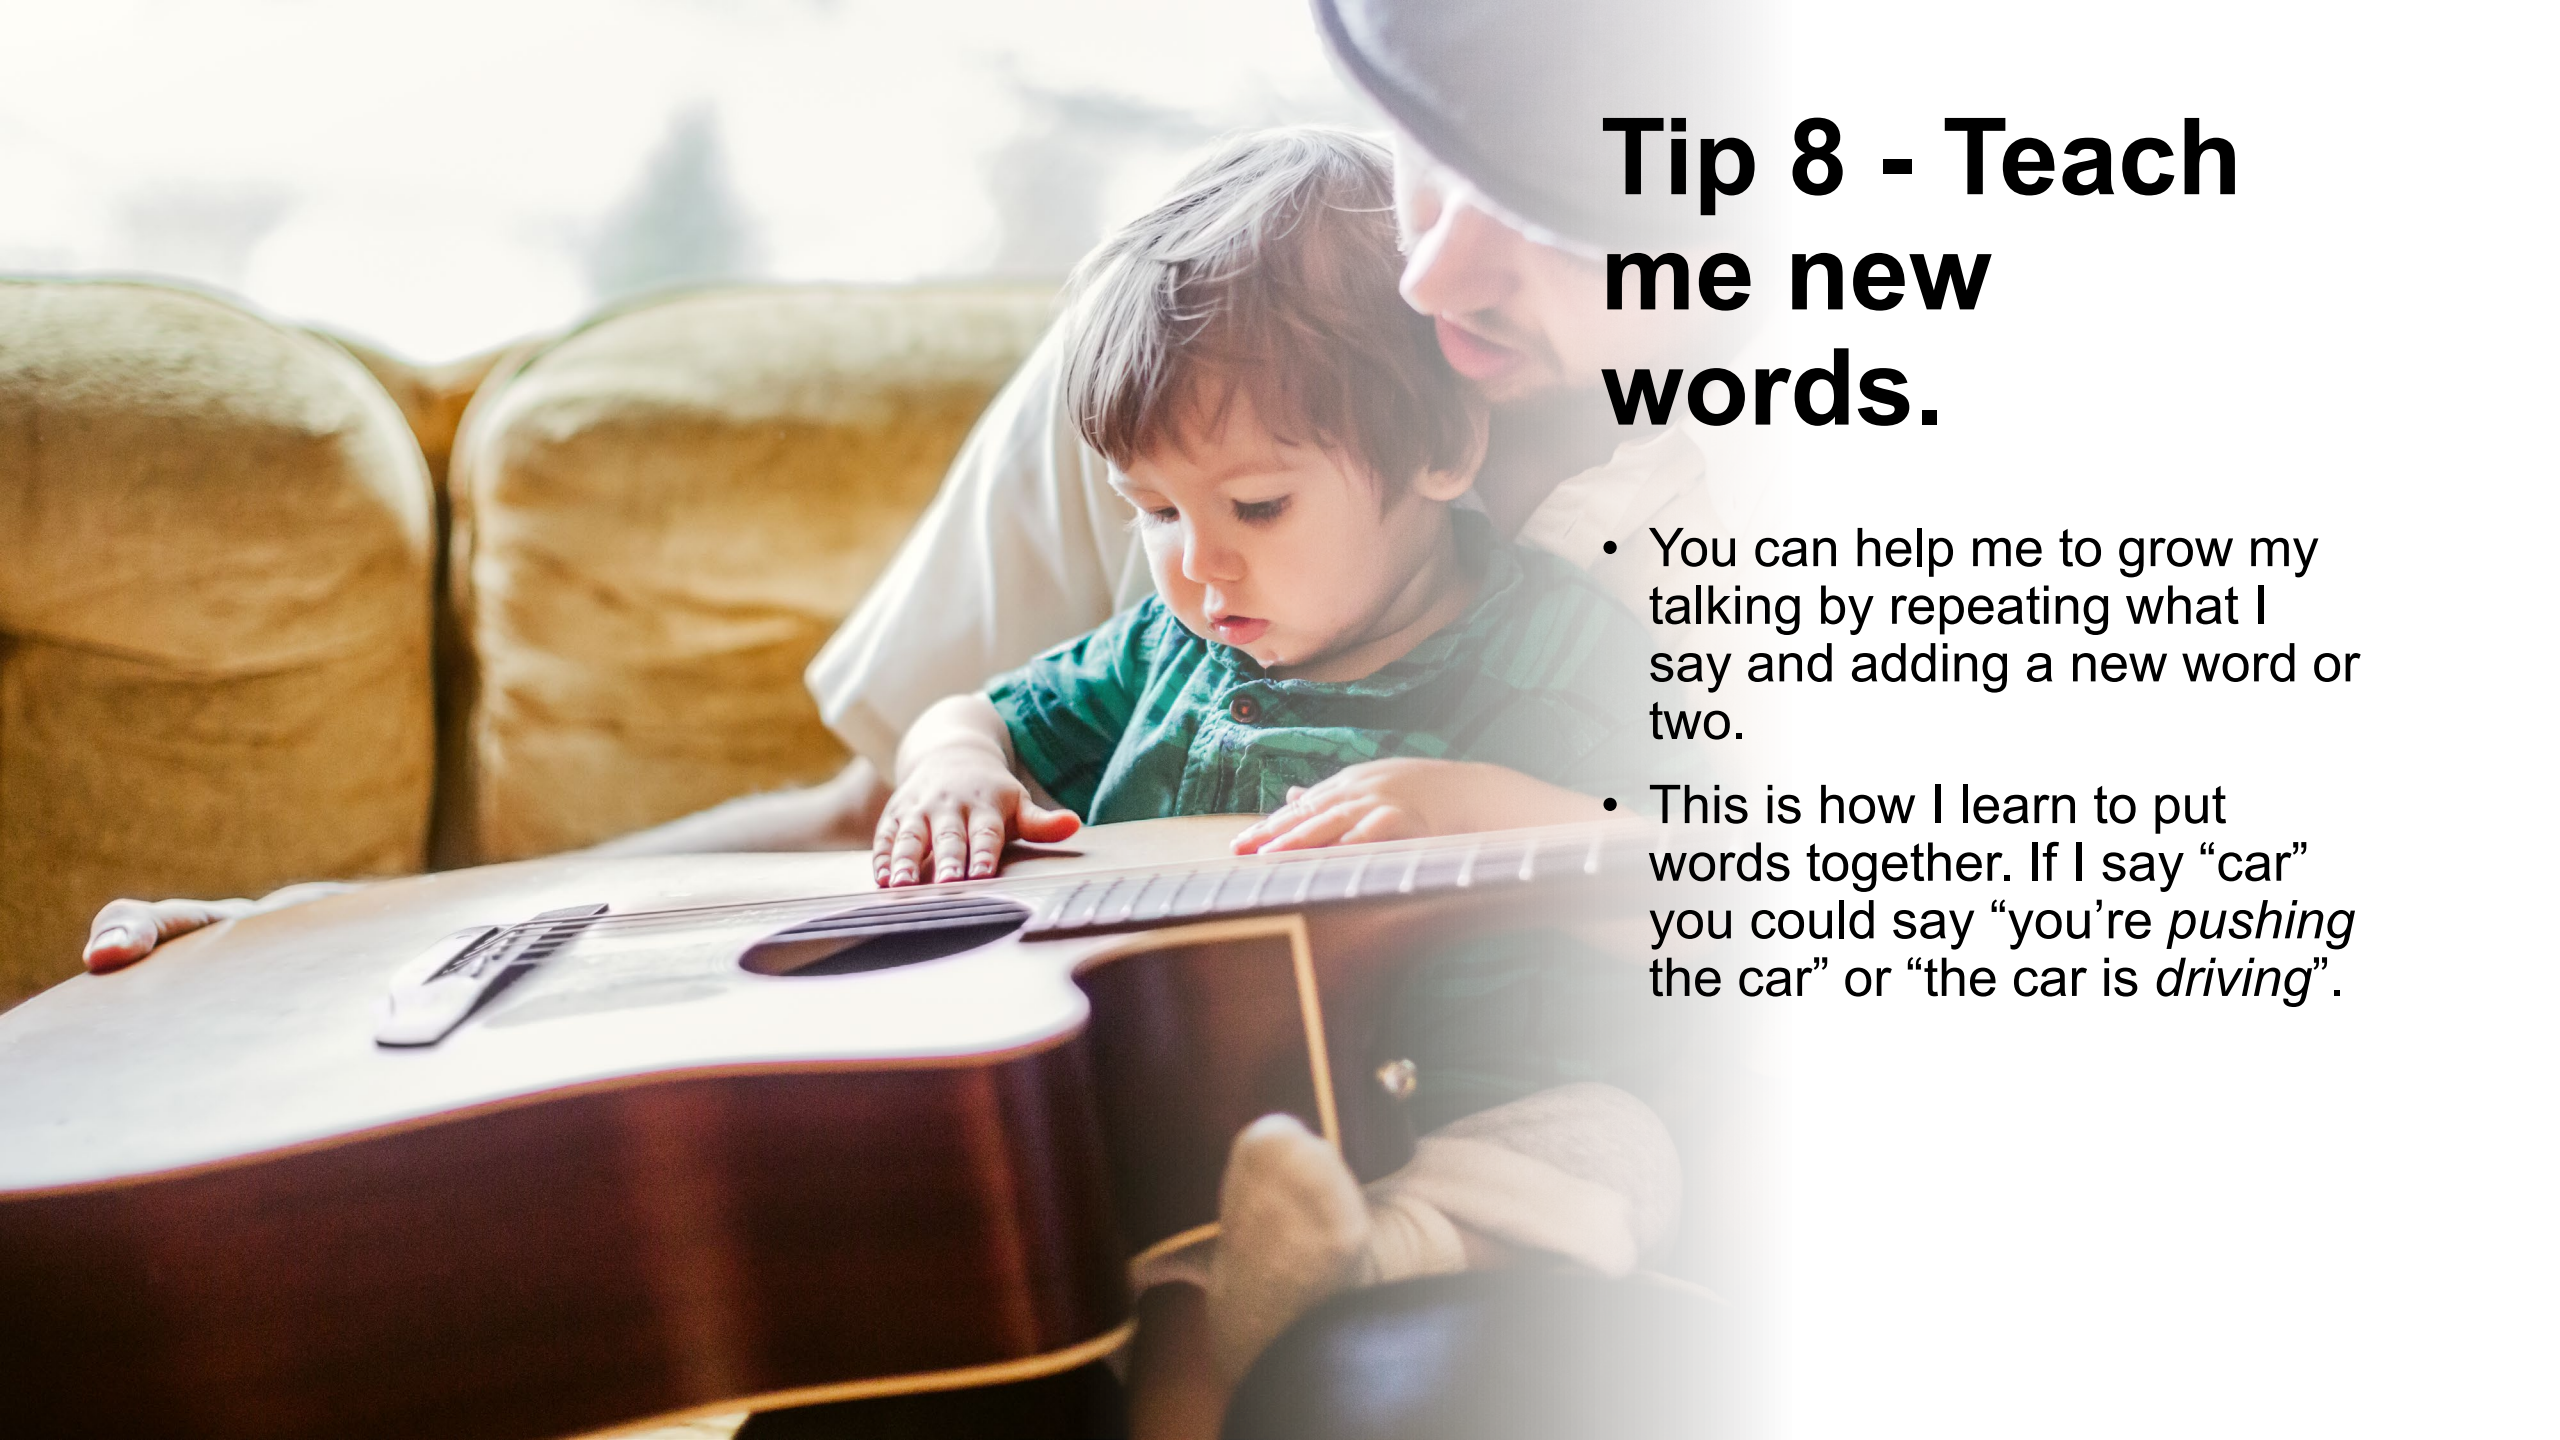

- Talk to me when we are playing or doing everyday things like shopping, having a bath, nappy changing or eating tea.
- It doesn't matter if you say the same things over and over again, this is how I learn.

Tip 7 - Play talking tennis with me.

- Say something to me and then give me lots of time to respond.
- It helps to count to 10 in your head before speaking again. This is how I learn to take turns.
- When I'm a baby I still like to play talking tennis. Watch out for my smiles, sounds and looks. This is my way of talking to you. As I get older, I will start to use words.

A man and a young child are sitting on a light-colored couch. The man, wearing a grey cap and a white shirt, is holding an acoustic guitar. The child, wearing a green patterned shirt, is looking down at the guitar. The background is a bright, out-of-focus window.

Tip 8 - Teach me new words.

- You can help me to grow my talking by repeating what I say and adding a new word or two.
- This is how I learn to put words together. If I say “car” you could say “you’re pushing the car” or “the car is driving”.

Tip 9 - Take my dummy out when I am talking.

- Dummies get in the way and stop me talking clearly.

A photograph of a family of four sitting on a light-colored, textured couch. A man with a beard and short dark hair, wearing a white t-shirt and a grey zip-up hoodie, is smiling broadly at the camera. A woman with blonde hair, wearing a purple top, is looking down at a baby. The baby, wearing a white long-sleeved shirt and mustard-colored overalls, is looking up at the man. Another person's arm and hand are visible in the foreground, reaching towards the baby. The background shows a window with green foliage outside.

Tip 10 - Use the language you know best when you talk to me at home.

- This will help my brain to grow and I will learn English quickly if I already know the words in our home language.
