Mort lane is already an extremely busy road with many lorries and cars using it as a through road to the motorway and surrounding areas. Building 1100 houses will cause chaos in the morning, evening and when the road is flooded, which is often. There is no infrastructure in our area to hold another 1100 houses, there are already new builds being built in the surrounding areas which is already causing congestion. Congestion is already horrendous and I thought this is something that the council were trying to reduce? When the house was bought we were told that the surrounding areas were greenbelt and would never be built on, which was a selling point and the reason why the house was bought.
