I think the idea of building houses on a green belt land is disgusting , this area is a great place for the local community to enjoy the fresh air and meet for social events. Also I suffer with depression and I enjoy walking my dog along these fields as a release from everyday life. I have lived in Mosley Common my whole life and it has gone from a quiet peaceful village to busy and no green spaces. I highly disagree with this as I feel the already built houses on green land is enough. We don't need more traffic and more people causing crime etc.
